Applications

The John Deere Gator allows supervisors, technical managers, or other crew members to move around large event sites more quickly, enabling them to get the job done faster. The all-terrain production vehicle is particularly useful for transporting materials, such as fencing off a festival site. The John Deere Gator easily copes with difficult surfaces like mud or slopes and safely delivers the driver and the load to their destination.

Features

The gasoline-powered John Deere Gator is equipped with low-pressure tires that are gentle on the turf, making it fast, all-terrain, and robust. It has a stable loading area and a trailer coupling as standard features. There are different models to choose from, including the Gator CX and the longer and wider Gator TS, both available in the characteristic green, yellow, and black color combination. If needed, we can also provide the GatorTS with road approval for use on public roads.

Optional Extras

If necessary, transport can be carried out in conjunction with other rental materials from eps, resulting in the most environmentally friendly and cost-efficient handling possible. Additionally, everything comes from a single source.

01To ensure that the show goes off without a hitch, huge amounts of materials and extensive superstructures are needed - and that's exactly where the John Deere Gator offers the best support | 02 The all-terrain two-seater can transport heavy freight comfortably and safely across bumpy festival grounds on its loading area | 03 Even narrow paths can be navigated with the production vehicle, and hard-to-reach places can be easily accessed | 04 With its easy-to-grip and clearly arranged controls, the vehicle is intuitive to operate.
